MR. STANLEY KOZIKOWSKI

Throughout his years as principal here at Chicopee Comprehensive High School, Mr. Kozikowski has been a positive influence on us all. Since he began working here as a teacher in 1983, he has changed the lives of the thousands of students who pass through these hallways in one way or another.

Mr. Kozikowski has spent the last four years working to get the new school building ready. The project was behind schedule, over budget, and would probably have not been finished for another five years if he hadn't put so much of his time and energy into getting it done. Mr. Kozikowski's main goal was to give the students of Comp a better learning experience and he did it.

This man will undoubtedly be missed by all when he leaves, but we all know he will never be forgotten! His name is forever preserved in our memories of both the old Chicopee Comprehensive and the new one.

He may be retiring in 2008, but his amazing accomplishment, the beautiful new Comprehensive building, will last for years to come.

Above: Mr. Kozikowski proudly stands on the new diving board. The new, deeper pool has enabled Comp to start a diving team.

Above: In the mood for barbecue? Mr. Kozikowski loves to cook out on the grill, and his food isn't as bad as people may think!

Right: Mr. Kozikowski speaks to the graduating class of 2007 at their graduation, adding words of wisdom into their lives.

A TRUE COLT THROUGH AND THROUGH

Right: Mr. Kozikowski's 1954 school photo shows the fun-loving person he was then, and still is to this day.

Above: Mr. Kozikowski proudly stands on the new mosaic in the entrance to the new school building. His patience and hard work made it possible for the new Chicopee Comprehensive High School to be completed.

It's finally here- SENIOR YEAR! It's been a long, eventful blue and gold four years but it's here, the end of the road. Bring on the new, the work force, college campuses, and the "real world" but the class of '08 will never forget these last four years of bricks falling, roofs leaking, blue paint flying, and "it's-all-over" chants. We're Colts through and through, but here we go, bring on the new.

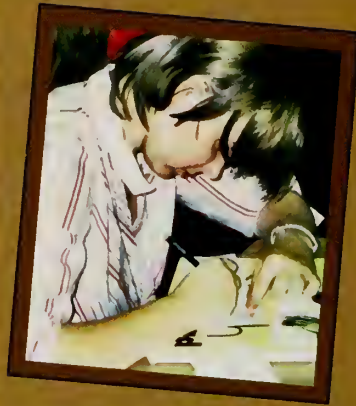

Pay your dues!

FRESHMAN YEAR

What Can Brown Do for You?

Left: 08's first taste of spirit week, they caught on quickly.

"THE BEST PART OF FRESHMAN YEAR IS GETTING IT OVER WITH."

- KARAGH LINZI

Are you Red-dy?

Sophomore year was a year of change. It was the year we were no longer freshman and made our transition into becoming uppperclassman. We showed off our school spirit by wearing all our red. This was the year Mr Paquette shaved his head because the sophomore class of 08 raised the most money for the Hurricane Katrina fundraiser. The memories we made freshman and sophomore year we'll never forget!! GO '08!

A Year of change

Below: Is this Mrs. Fennessey or her son Keith? On dress-up day, only they know for sure.

Right: Bethany Heroux, Leticia Avery, Katie Masztal, Sharrie Lopez, Steffanie Meyer and Marianne Grey are happy to be out of school and on the Amistad.

Pour some sugar on me!

Nina Parent, Julio Sanchez, Steven Herbert, Nicole Nogueira, Kelsey Niemic, and Sara Manzi having some times to remember.

Our powder puff team giving it all they had in the final moment, "Mini" then did a toe jump off.

Above: Matt and "Murphy" having some fun on the bus ride to NY to see the Sox beat the Yankees.

Junior year was considered a victorious year for CCHS. Our class became more spirited and more competitive Junior year. The seniors had us beat for most of the competitions, but we did managed to beat them on color day, when you saw more yellow than you did blue. Junior year was also the year when we took the sword back from Chicopee High and our football team won the Superbowl, resulting in Comp being the first to bring a Superbowl Championship to Chicopee. We were also the class with the most personality and style; Atoa Ripley winning Mr. CCHS, again, proved that '08 had that personality that all other classes lacked. All in all, this was a very triumphant year for the class of 2008.

The last four years of high school were filled with rivalries being made & quickly finished. From egg-covered cars and spying in the woods to more eggs being thrown and endless Colt spirit, this year's seniors were special. They didn't really have cliques and they were pretty much "all for one and one for all." They're '08 and they're a good time, and in 2008, they lived it up.

You KNOW You're '08 When:

1. You tell people to pay their dues when you still haven't and didn't plan on it.
2. All senior traditions get thrown out the window.
3. Chicken patties and deli melts are the reason you came to school.
4. You get lost in the building, when it's your senior year.
5. You're dressing up on Oct. 30th.
6. You've won Mr. CCHS two years in a row and they still say you're the worst class.
7. You still believe you'll win a football game.
8. You don't even mention the sword.
9. You're homecoming is in January.
10. You're still the biggest class, in spite of the shrinking.
11. They actually "saved the best for last" but you're the first too.
12. You don't have a "crew," "divas," or any other ridiculous nicknames.
13. You know what it's like to sit through a three hour code gray.
14. You're not afraid to park outside the zigzag line.
15. You remember "what brown can do for you" and when Paquette shaved his head.

"Pay your dues, PLEASE!"

Paquette had "pay your dues" burned into the minds of every member of the senior class. Every single wall in the Comp was covered in some sort of cry to "pay your dues". When you don't even have the money to throw prom in the McD's parking lot... you need as much help as you can get. But without the advisors annoying the class to death, '08 would surely be in debt.

Colts Through and Through

Left: Kylie Brown showing love for Dino Perez. Dino had his own league of fans in the stands; he had three "Perez Girls" as well as his face on a stick!

Left: Keeping up with their own tradition, these boys painted "Ripley 22" on their body for the very last time. C. Cram says, "Sword game was sick."

Below: "Check out the elf costumes! Let's try them on!" Comp Chronicle editors Jenn Perreault and Emily Masse clown around in Journalism class.

"Emotions, drama, broken hearts, and lies; And they say these were the best days of our lives?"

"High school is one of the biggest emotional rollercoasters you can ever ride but once you get off, hopefully you've had a memorable experience that you can look back on and treasure." Amanda Major, Class President

juniors

One more year before senior year. The last couple of years have been great. You've been through it all from fire drills to pep rallies. But the best is yet to come. One more year before your lives completely change. Even when times get rough, you'll still have the memories of the class of '09 and that's what will give you the strength to move on with the new. The class of '08 is leaving their legacy; make them proud. And try to get chicken patty day more often.

Going for the gold!

sophomores

Grade 10, what a confusing year. You remember the hardships of being a freshman but you can taste being a junior. Have fun with the next two years of high school; they go by way too fast. Don't worry about the seniors or the juniors who have it out for you. Don't worry about rumors, fights, and fusses. High school is only temporary, so make the best of it. It won't be too long before senior year will be sneaking up on you, too. And remember. . . anything is better than being a freshman.

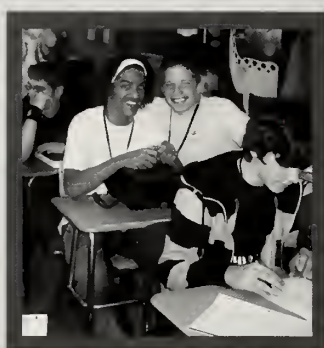

We will manage!

freshmen

Bring in on the new kids. This year is unlike any other year; the class of 2011 will not only have to get used to one new school building, but two! Freshman year can be overwhelming without the bonus of changing schools in the middle of the year. The class of 2011 handled it well though. Check it out!

New kids on the block.

Student Life

Life goes on outside the walls of CCHS. Students love to hang out with their friends, play sports, spend time with their boyfriends or girlfriends, and most of them have to go to work. There's another part of our lives that not many people get to see the other side of the student body, but we take life and we make the best of it!

Welcome to the good life!

STUDENT BANDS: MUSIC TO OUR EARS.

"We have a lot of fun making music. Western Massacoustics. Haha."

- Jaime Dever,
"The Scenic Route"

From bands to acoustic groups, our school is filled with many talented individuals just trying to get their music heard. The music played ranges from acoustic to classic rock to rock. The groups write music, practice, and perform on their own creating a balance between school, work, and a social life.

Each year, our school holds Battle of the Bands. Battle of the Bands gives them the opportunity to show their talent and to compete for various prizes. To participate in Battle of the Bands, groups must sign up. The list of bands is then narrowed down to five or six bands. The bands chosen to participate must present their lyrics to show that they are appropriate, sign a contract stating that they will follow school rules, and attend the dress rehearsal the day before the final event. They are also asked to get sponsors from businesses in the area.

Bands that place get trophies and various prizes. Sometimes they are even awarded studio time. Battle of the Bands is a good way for bands to become known inside and outside the walls of the school.

These groups are dedicated to their music and put a lot of time and effort into being the best that they can be.

Above: Jaime Dever and Tim Clarke of the acoustic group "The Scenic Route" perform their music in their friend Joey's house.

Working Hard For The Money

When Comp opened in the 60s, many students worked to earn extra spending money. Nearly thirty years later, an after school job is a must for students to be able to afford necessities and luxuries such as gas, clothing and videogames. Like most teens in the United States, Colts can be found working jobs in retail and fast food. High school jobs haven't changed much since the 60s, but they are still just as necessary.

Below: Nina Parent is pizza crazy! She must get it from working at Domino's!

New Year, New Fads

With every new year comes new styles and this year was no exception. Style can define who you are in high school but more importantly it can set you apart in our giant crowd of Colts. Sharrie Lopez, 2008 senior ballot winner for best dressed, says, "Accessories are a must and they can make your outfit stand out, but never overload with accessories." From accessories to tattoos, from Hollister to Hot Topic, Comp has it all. Take a look back on 2008's fashion, and remember that you dressed like this to be in style.

STUDENTS THE WORLD AROUND

The United States is a country of immigrants. At Comp, many students have grandparents who came to this country from another place. Others have parents who immigrated or even they themselves just arrived a couple of years ago. No matter when or how we got here, we all have one thing in common: our language. Some of us have been speaking English since we were babies; some of us have been speaking Spanish, some Russian, some Ukraine, some Japanese, some Polish, or any other language you can think of. But no matter what we say, we all end up understanding each other and that's the important thing. Understanding each other in spite of our diverse cultures is the goal of Ms. Dubilo's English Language Learners class. These students have friends who speak both their native language and English. This way they're not cutting their home language out of their school lives, they're simply fitting in better with their peers. This includes the students who are here on Student Exchange programs. They're here to learn how American teenagers live and learn, and, most importantly, enjoy life!

Right: Jamie, Toliy, Dalamar, Nixaly, and Angel listen intently to Ms. Dubilo's English lesson.

THE LITTLE ROOM THAT COULD!

Learning on different levels is what CCHS is all about. You have AP, Honors, Standard and Career Tech, but there's a whole section of this school which is often forgotten. This section is our friends in room 220A. You know them, They're the students who walk around the hallways in the middle of the day with their teachers and pop into your classrooms just to say "Hi." The children in this class bring a whole new way of learning to Chicopee Comp. These kids are probably the hardest working students in this whole school. During their time here, they learn valuable life skills most of us have to learn on our own. They learn how to make breakfast every Friday, which is why the school smells so good (for once), they learn how to do laundry, write their names and addresses, many of them compete in the Special Olympics each year, and most importantly, they learn how to enjoy life. Teachers look at these kids for inspiration. Ms. Potorski, whose room is right next to theirs, says, "These students remind us that there is more to 'learning' than what is in a textbook. They are easily the most loving and accepting group of students in the whole school."

// WORKING WITH SPECIAL ED, I THINK YOU QUICKLY FORM CONNECTIONS BECAUSE YOU'RE WORKING ONE ON ONE. IT'S JUST A REALLY SPECIAL TREAT!"

Halloween

Dress up day at Comp is a big deal. Students have the opportunity to show off their creative side and live out their wildest dreams. In addition, each class receives spirit points based on the percentage of students who wear costumes. Even though the Halloween celebration came a day early this year due to the seniors' cap and gown measurements, everyone still participated and had a great time.

WEEKENDS

Students can get so frustrated during school. Between homework, studying, and that project you spent all night on, it feels like there's just no time for fun. Then comes the weekend, a time when students can relax and forget about school. It's always fun to go out and support our team and show our school spirit at football games. Saturdays and Sundays are all about sleeping in late and spending time with your friends. If only the weekends were longer.

academics

Freshmen adjust to high school life, as sophomores cheer because they are no longer at the bottom. Juniors count down the days until they're seniors, while the seniors get ready to leave high school forever. Yet everyone is doing one thing in common, trying to pass all of their classes. From painting to AP English 2, Comp has a class for every Colt.

career tech

Career Technical Education (CTE) gives students a chance to learn a trade, whether it is fixing cars in auto tech, designing products in computer aided design or sculpting metal. Other shops include wood working, culinary arts, metal fabrication, electrical, and horticultural. Students choose a program that best fits their interests and abilities.

Working for the Weekend!

MACHINE SHOP

Let's get technical!

New school, new books, new machines! Another great advantage of having a new vocational school, is the opportunity to use new, updated machines. Not only is there most space for our students to work, it gives them to chance to explore in a much more state-of-the-art working environment.

ELECTRICAL

You know when they say, 'We are the future?' Well, these students are going to be the future of our community and the communities surrounding us. They're learning and getting the experience they need in their chosen field. They will go on to build houses, and even new schools with their skills they gained in high school.

Automotive Technology

The automotive technology shop, run by Mr. Syriac and Mr. Williams, is a great choice for students who are looking for a career in automotive repair and maintenance. Students in this shop learn by using books and simulators as well as actual automobiles. Graduates of the program can receive national certification in Automotive Service Excellence.

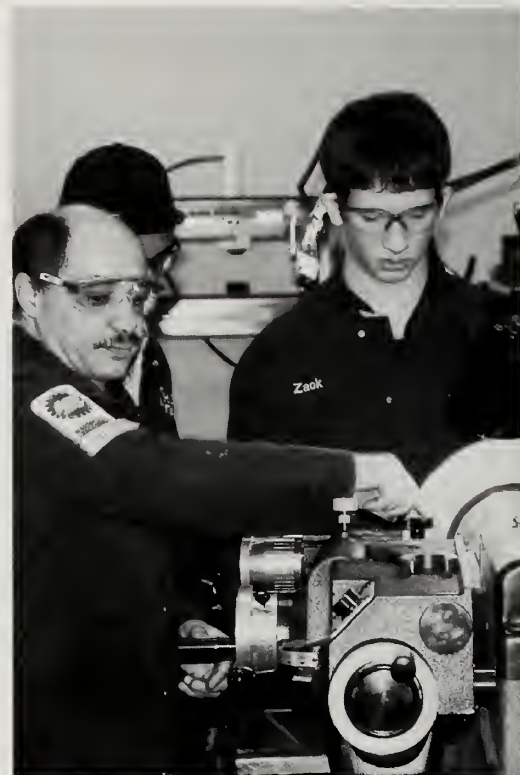

Students in the Auto Tech shop learn to handle many kinds of tools. Naturally, safety is a huge priority.

Below: The new garage provides plenty of space for students to learn.

Below: Mr. Williams demonstrates the new state-of-the-art technology in the shop.

Metal Fabrication and Joining

The metal fabrication and joining shop, run by Mr. Gassnola and Mr. Bienvenue, teaches skills necessary for students to pursue higher education or enter the welding/metal fabrication job market. In this shop, students are able to work toward Entry Level and Advance Level II welding certifications. The program has been certified by the American Welding Society.

Students in the metal fabrication and joining shop learn numerous practical skills to prepare them for a rewarding career in welding or fabricating.

Carpentry

"I really enjoy carpentry, and being in the new school makes it even better."

-Alex Morneau

Moving into a new building can be overwhelming but at the same time very exciting, and carpentry was one of the first to do so. With much more room and new tools, the students had the opportunity to become even more experienced in carpentry. Learning the profession is not always as easy as these students make it look. There is much to be done and they work hard but have fun at the same time with their goggles on, remembering that safety always comes first.

Drafting

"Drafting takes a lot of hard work, but in the end it's definately all worth the effort."

-Alexis Patridge

Have you ever wondered how blueprints for houses are made? The drafting students at CCHS could tell you how. They spend most of their time on computers, creating their own blueprints for projects such as houses, garages, or floorplans. It's not always as easy as a click of the mouse, but by the looks of it, they know what their doing. They work hard during class every day but are always having fun in drafting. "It's exciting to know that soon we'll be in a new school with new technology," says Amber Wood.

We all know cooking can be a hassle, but it doesn't have to be. These students have lots of fun while working hard to get that 'A'. They have the privilege of being some of the first students to enter the new Chicopee Comp. Also, Cooking is a great skill to have, you could make it a career or just a hobby. Although, we all know that the best part of culinary class is eating!

Culinary Arts

Jay Clawson looks surprised as the camera flashes.

Senior Jason Clawson poses for a picture. He enjoys cooking and is great at it! "Cooking comes naturally to me," he says. He plans to be a master chef when he graduates from CCHS.

Top Right: Seniors, Sam Ayers and Thaddeus Caisse hang out in the kitchen. They work hard but for these seniors, there's always time to goof off.

Horticulture

If you're interested in plants and the environment, horticulture could be the class for you! While it teaches you the skills of growing plants and caring for the environment, it could be a life-changing experience!

Above: Mariliz Tores and Oni-Re Ife Brevard search through boxes to try and find the best pine cones for their projects.

Landscaping Building and Grounds Maintenance

Landscaping and Buildings and Grounds Maintenance is a class for students who don't mind getting their hands a little dirty. Students work with many different machines that are used to help maintain and improve the grounds of Chicopee Comp. You can always look out your classroom window and see a landscaping student making some type of change or improvement to our school.

Cisco Networking

Cisco Networking students are all focused on a common goal, to gain as much knowledge from the class in order to take the CCNA test to get certified in computer networking. Students learn about the CAT program, about fiber optic cables, and how to use a wireless system. Students also learn how to take apart, repair, and construct computers. In our technologically advanced society its important to know how to use a computer. Being able to repair one is a bonus for the Cisco Networking students. Gaining the knowledge of computers will give students a big advantage in life, and will no doubt be a factor when applying for jobs.

sports

Sports in Chicopee Comp, for some students, are as important as academics; it's what keeps them in school. For others, it's something to watch in their spare time. For everyone, it's a way to show school spirit. Regardless of whether they are athletes or spectators, many students will remember sporting events as some of the most enjoyable moments of their high school years.

Comp Crazies!

Cross Country

Cross Country is a sport that involves endurance, pace, and mostly long distance runs. Starting in late summer and continuing throughout the fall both boys and girls work their hardest in the Chicopee State Park to get to Western Mass. "We're not just a team, we're a family," says Senior Dajara Wright. The girls hold many pasta suppers and have formed strong relationships with one another. The boys have multiple memories to laugh about, having supported each other throughout the season.

Coach Thayer says, "The girls worked hard this season and I'm proud of their achieved goals." Their many slogans include: "We run fast we'll kick your @*!" and "We bust ours so we can kick yours."

Above: Senior Captain Becca Boisseau claims, "I run better when everyone's cheering me on. It all ties into how close we are."

"I don't care how bad we lose, how much the other teams laugh at us, or how inexperienced we all are. I only care about how hard you try." ~Coach Duponde

Chicopee Comprehensive High School has started a wrestling team, thanks to Mr. Peterson who has been working hard to get a program started. Although Mr. Peterson's other responsibilities made it impossible for him to coach, Comp still managed to hire two excellent coaches, Coach Duponde and Coach Therrien. Since this was a first year program, there were not enough wrestlers to start a program with Comp alone. It became a cooperative program with students from Chicopee High. Despite the rivalry between the schools, there were absolutely no problems between the wrestlers of Comp and High. Even though it was challenging to bring new wrestlers up to the task of competing against more experienced athletes, thanks to the coaches' enthusiasm and love for the sport, a strong bond was formed amongst the wrestlers of the Chicopee Wrestling Team. In the end, nothing mattered so much as trying hard and having fun.

The 2008 combined Chicopee Comp/Chicopee High Varsity Gymnastics Team flipped, tumbled and vaulted their way through the 2007 season. Stepping up from previous years, they achieved fourth place in Western Mass.

The events in a gymnastics meet are vault, bars, beam and floor. It is a sport that requires hard work, strength, flexibility and dedication.

Captains for the year are Chicopee High Amanda Wyckoff and Alyssa Mullin. The team also recieved support from the team's manager Cassendra Niziolek, Katie Jones from the 2006 graduating class, and Coach Sandy Barrett.

Sophomore, Melissa Asselin, in her second year on the team, competes on bars, floor and beam. She recieved the Coaches' Award.

"This season was one of the best. It was the greatest senior year."

Chicopee Comprehensive Girls' Soccer had a phenomenal season. The team lucked out by having a very skilled freshman class come into the program. With a total of forty-four girls trying out the decision wasn't easy for the coaches. After four long sessions, the teams were decided with a total of seventeen girls on varsity and eighteen on junior varsity. Both teams became close over the three month period of time. They also stayed consistent and, with a few junior varsity pull-ups, made it all the way to the quarterfinals in the division 1 tournament. With a few injuries along the way, the girls stayed strong. Even though the team never got to do their annual scavenger hunt due to "hydroplaning," the girls still continued their inside jokes with one another. In the middle shot, junior LeAnn Rivard helps take out the Easthampton defender before making a play. With a lot of team work the girls went on to win that game and thirteen others ending with a record of 14-1-3. Junior Varsity had their best season ever ending with a record of 14-3-1. Both teams went farther than any other team in Chicopee. They should be very proud of their accomplishment and strive to go even further in the upcoming years.

Jack Senecal makes an extreme save.

The Varsity and Junior Varsity teams both had a good season. Sean Seifert, a team captain, said "We put a lot of hard work into this season and I feel like it paid off well." Another captain, Chris Dearing, agreed. "Throughout this season it was all about dedication and teamwork." Sean O'Neill, also a team captain, said "We had a good season this year. It was a fun year but we still worked hard and stayed focused."

The Varsity boys finished with a record of 8 wins, 7 losses, and 3 tied games. They made it to playoffs but lost their game. By the end of the season, they were a pretty close group of friends. The Junior Varsity boys had a record of 5 wins, 5 losses, and 5 tied games.

Captains' Corner

Sean O'Neill

"We ended up finishing with a record of 8-7-3 which is the best record the team had in a while. We made the Western Mass tournament which was our goal. Overall it was a good season"

Chris Dearing

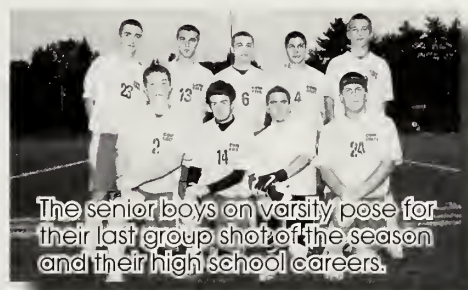

"To make it to the playoffs we needed to win our last game and when time came we won 2-1 and made playoffs for the first time in 10 years!"

Sean Seifert

"Our team was a pretty close group of friends and we definitely had a lot of fun, but when it came down to it we knew how to get serious and the job done."

COMP GOLF!

The 2007 Chicopee Comprehensive Golf Team consisted of many returning players as well as new ones too. Those returning include Kyle Eckert, Patrick Brown, Jacob Derosia, Joe Chapdelaine, Kevin Harris and Ryan Burnette. New faces seen this season were Matt Bellavance and Steven Lepage. The fall 2007 season may not have been the best but they improved their record from last year. Although it may seem otherwise, golf actually is a challenging sport that takes a lot of practice and great hand and eye coordination. The photos show a team that looks serious and in the game but surely Mr. Zdroyski saw times when his golf team goofed off. . .

"Because sometimes it's boring just hittin' a normal golf shot."

CCHS HOCKEY

The Colts Ice Hockey Team endured a frustrating season this year, racking up only 1 win and 3 ties. Despite strong leadership and production from senior captains Jeremy Lafleur, Dan Leclair, and Brett Salamon, the Colts could never find a groove and lost more than a few nail-biters. The highlight of the season came against Turners Falls, when the Colts exploded for 5 unanswered goals in the 3rd period to come out with a 9-7 victory. With freshmen defensemen Dan Brown, Joe St. Jean, and Jenn Galindo and freshman goaltender Paul Mogilka all logging serious minutes for the squad this year, the future looks bright however and the Colts are looking forward to righting the ship next year.

This was the final season for Coach Roger Bowden, who has been with the team for over 30 years and has seen more than his share of success during his reign. The Chicopee Comp. Ice Hockey program wishes Coach Bowden the best of luck in the future and is truly grateful for his contributions and dedication to the team over the years.

"The end of this season is bittersweet because with graduation we are losing some great players and close friends." David Dziewit

"Bring on the New" has reflected not only the new building this year, but also the Swim Team. Now that CCHS has a legal pool depth of 12 feet, CCHS has a Diving Team for the 2007-2008 season. With over 50 people on this team, the CCHS Varsity Swimming/Diving Team together had a great season! Coming second in the league, the team made a name for themselves as some of the best swimmers in the league! The Diving Team has been remarkable, being the first diving team Comp has been able to have since they changed the pool depth requirement. They showed courage and dedication by competing in a sport they had never done before, after only two weeks of practice! Teamwork, dedication, courage and hard work have carried these swimmers and divers through the season, and they will carry it with them forever!

FOOTBALL

don't stop believin'

"Now I don't think you don't. You gotta look at the guy next to you. Look into his eyes. Now I think you are going to see a guy who will go that much with you. You are going to see a guy who will sacrifice himself for this team because he knows when it comes down to it, you are gonna do the same thing for him. That's a really gentlemen and either we treat now as a team or we will die as individuals. That's football guys. That's all it is. Now, what are you gonna do?"

-Al Pacino, Any Given Sunday

Any Comp football player knows these lines very well; they remember the nerves racing and Pacino's voice all around them before every game. The season in itself wasn't the best, we didn't have new Super Bowl rings on our fingers. We went easy on our football rivals; let someone else have a chance. Our record had no effect on the "Comp Crazies" who made it to every game, cheering louder than every other school in true Colt fashion. Chicopee Comp never stopped believing in our boys and our boys never stopped believing in themselves. No matter the score, the Colts always had the most heart and determination. We will always love Comp football.

Nick Kane, Season MVP

"We've had our ups & downs but always remember what a wise man told us, "pain is temporary, pride is forever."

Comp Indoor Track!

Track and Field has a little something for everyone. There is a variety of field events such as long jump, high jump or shot put. There are also running events that range from two miles to a 55 meter sprint. Due to the move into the new school, our track team has been expected to run up and down the career tech and gym hallways. With this in mind, both boys and girls work their hardest to prove to their administrators they deserve a place to practice. I've been very impressed with the girls who came out for the team this year. They've all worked past obstacles and injuries and because of their determination, we've had more girls beat their personal records and qualify for Western Mass than in previous years. Senior Co- Captain Catherine Taliceo is impressed with how the girls have come together with their new coach. "Coach Laurin has done a great job handling us teen age girls. He's witnessed everything from our mood swings to our jokes to our attitudes." The boys have also shown improvement this year. Many of them have qualified for Western Mass multiple times. The boys have had rough years in the past, but have pulled through this season.

Below: Matt Bellevance is one of our strongest throwers this year. Matt is a very enthusiastic senior of the team. He intends on throwing discus in the spring.

Above: Senior Co- Captain Jeff Welch says, "Our team has been through a lot coming together and learning how to help each other which we still work on everyday. Whether your getting your steps right for high jump, long jump, or shot put or trying to cut down your time in you're race we all help each other improve. Just try your hardest, that's what counts. Since my freshmen year the amount of students that have joined indreased from 8 to 40. Mr. Lamothe is working his hardest to try and make us guys the best we can be."

Right: Co- Captain Lindsay Leavy says, "Track can be considered an individual or a team sport. At the end of every meet, everyone's individual score is combined to make the team's final score. Not one of the girls thought more about herself than she did the team, and that took us far this season. Encouragement was the best drive."

Boys Basketball

The '07-'08 season was a tough one for the boys' basketball team. Hopes were high entering the season and the team was really looking good. In the season opener the Colts put up a good fight against a tough Northampton team but failed to come away with a win. When senior captain Mike Dearing was plagued by the flu it didn't look good for comp. Missing two important games set the Colts back a little but they weren't ready to give up yet. Another setback due to the injury of guard Raphael Fernandez had the Colts dazed but they bounced back with a huge win over South Hadley. The rest of the season seemed like a blur with the Colts losing all but two of the remaining games. The last game of the season proved that the Colts, regardless of record, were still a tough and determined team. On senior night against a very good Westfield team the Colts pulled away with a victory and claimed the role of spoiler to the Westfield team who needed just one win to make the playoffs.

Clubs, Etc.

While academics are an incredibly important aspect of high school, they aren't everything CCHS offers. The ability to find and share common interests with others is another important life lesson. Whether they are performing community service, competing interscholastically, creating school publications or performing for the public, Comp students are offered an impressive variety of extracurricular clubs and activities. There is truly something here for everyone.

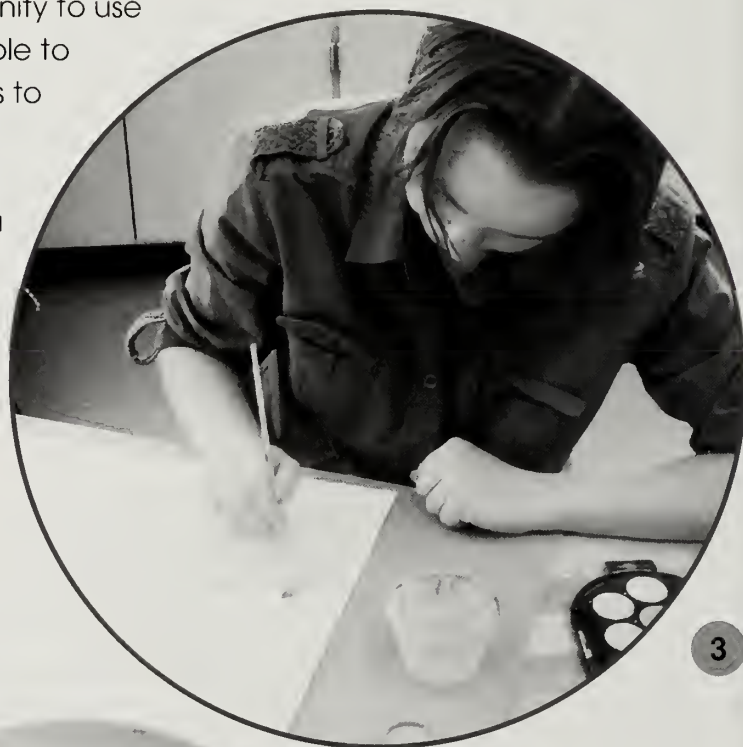

A place for everyone.

Art Club

Art club provides students with an opportunity to use materials that may not be readily available to them and to have fun learning new ways to use them. Mrs. Fahey provides spur-of-the-moment projects that are both unique and challenging. Past projects include painting a cow skull in watercolor and getting silly while posing for gesture drawings. Club members are also permitted to work on projects for class.

1 Amanda Robillard is a longtime art club member.

2 CCHS students display their work in a yearly art show.

3 Jessica Crosier focuses on her painting.

“Mrs. Fahey brings her unique joy to the club which makes it worth going.”

Key Club

Key Club is a high school version of the Kiwanis Club, which is an international service organization. Students involved in Key Club complete numerous community service projects, including fundraising for various charitable organizations, helping the Knights of Columbus with their monthly spaghetti suppers as well as with their Veterans' Day Lunch, collecting can tabs for Shriners Hospital and volunteering their time and effort with Chicopee Parks and Recreation children's programs. Through these activities, students build character and leadership skills.

Project Peace

Project Peace is a club for environmentally conscious students. Its advisor is Ms. Manteria. One of their more impressive projects this year was the cafeteria bottle recycling program. Due to their efforts, barrels of plastic from CCHS are now being recycled instead of taking up space in landfills. In addition, the school saves a great deal of money on trash service. This organization promises to lead trends of the future.

PLANT A TREE!

Student Council

This year Student Council members really had their work cut out for them. Due to the transition to the new school, things became a lot harder to plan.

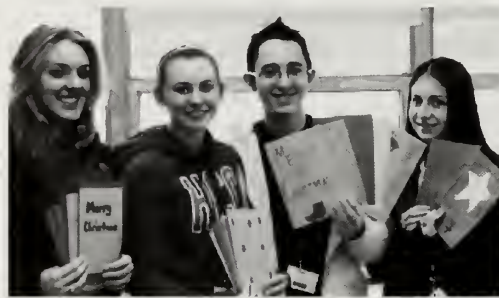

Homecoming was supposed to be planned for after the Christmas Break due to a lack of bleachers in the old gym. These plans also got changed due to a conflict with Friday sporting events. Powder Puff and the crowning of the Homecoming Court were all done during an activity period. Another issue came up when the senior cap and gown measurements ended up being scheduled on Halloween, making Dress-Up Day a lot harder to plan. Students were allowed to dress up the day before Halloween, resulting in lower participation. Spirit Week also became stricter since the new building is so beautiful, administrators couldn't risk allowing students the opportunity to damage it.

Despite all of these struggles, Student Council still managed to go a few steps beyond their regular duties of planning important social and cause-worthy events. They decided to take a step in the green direction by picking up where the Green Team left off last year. Every Tuesday and Thursday some environmentally concerned members of Student Council would go through the halls and collect paper for recycling. The staff and students would diligently place waste paper in blue bins set in every classroom and office.

In spite of all of the challenges presented in the 2007-2008 school year, Student Council succeeded in flying right over them and making the best of things.

Cheerleading

Blue, Gold, the Best! Colts! Oh, yes! The Cheerleading Squad this year has met with obstacles, yet still managed to maintain its 'Comp Crazy' spirit. From tumbling to stunts, these students know how to work it out. Like the new building, the squad has many new additions, and have been seen around sporting new uniforms to show off their Colt pride. You can always count on the cheerleaders to dress up before games and get everyone pumped and ready for a great evening. From making signs to decorating lockers, they're always having fun and showing their support for our teams. A big job that the cheerleaders have is getting the fans involved and keeping their spirits up. Whether it's getting the crowd to 'jump up and shake their booty', or screaming and yelling for the one and only blue and gold. These students never give up; they just keep on cheering.

Left: Of course, the boys couldn't do all of this on their own. Some Junior and Senior girls had their input as well.

Above: The Seniors put their routine together in two days. They practiced after school going late into the night. Working hard they pulled off a spectacular win.

Below: The Juniors had some troubles getting a practice together but ended up with a very entertaining routine. As juniors they still have another year to get a strong group ready for next year's competition.

Powderpuff at Chicopee Comp is one of the funniest events of the year. Junior and Senior Boys get together as a class to put together a routine filled with dancing and stunts. Due to the move into the new school, Homecoming and Powderpuff had to be held during an activity period. This did not stop the guys from putting on a great performance.

Peer Mentoring

Peer mentoring is a very difficult task, and requires a great deal of patience. A peer mentor is a student who helps other students who have a different level of learning than they do. Throughout the day peer mentors go to the classroom assigned and help the teacher. They may help the kids learn how to count money, tell time, read, coloring, or many other things. "It's a very rewarding thing to help them out with something they may not get, but after working with them it clicks," Kim Wyckoff says. "This is a relatively new program and I think it's working really well. I hope they keep it around for a while; the students seem to enjoy it and so do I."

Peer mentoring was started this year and it's off to a booming start. Peer mentoring is an exceptional way to gain important life lessons.

Kim Wyckoff and Jackie Desmaris are Comp's first two Peer Mentors. They enjoy it very much.

S.A.D.D.

Students Against Destructive Decisions

SADD, or Students Against Destructive Decisions, is a national student organization dedicated to helping teens make positive life choices. One of SADD's most important functions is to encourage students to avoid poor decisions both during school events such as prom and outside of school as well.

Peer Mediation

Students who helps other students solve their conflicts are called peer mediators. People involved with a conflict have to come up with options to solve the predicament without foul language or physical brutality. This group of students must undergo 40 hours of training with professional mediators in order to become a mediator for the school. These individuals are sure to promote peace in our schools and our community.

The Chicopee Comprehensive Drama Club was challenged above and beyond the call of duty this year. Two full-length three-act plays, Neil Simon's The Odd Couple and The (Female) Odd Couple, were presented simultaneously. If the idea of presenting two different shows at once wasn't enough, there was also the move to the new school right in the middle of the rehearsal period. Furthermore, the auditorium was rented to another school and a week of stage time was lost. Due to this, the set was put into place only three weeks before showtime. In spite of the chaos, interpersonal drama and crazy work schedules, the Drama Club succeeded in bringing a good time to all who attended.

DEBATE CLUB

The CCHS Debate team did a great job arguing their points this year. The affirmative team of Joel McAuliffe and Kristin Veber earned a record of 3-8. The negative team of Elizabeth Drobnak and Adam McClellan received a record of 7-4. The affirmative team must write a case that agrees with the topic. The negative team must attack the affirmative case using the five stock issues of harm, topicality, inherency, solvency, and significance. The team that best convinces the judge wins.

Skills USA

Skills USA is the largest student organization in the United States. These students provide community service as well as attend yearly events such as the District and State Leadership and Skills Conferences. At these events, students compete against students with similar skills from other schools. Skills USA is a great opportunity for students to not only hone the skills they have learned here at school, but to also meet and network with students who have received similar training. Skills USA members come away with leadership and employment skills above and beyond those provided by the school.

Business Club

The CCHS Business Club is an organization devoted to preparing students for future careers in business. By attending conferences, competing against business students from other schools, and meeting with professionals in the business field, students are provided with authentic experiences that will help them to formulate skills that are useful in the business world.

Electrathon

Electrathon is an interdisciplinary project between students of Mr. Clark and Mr. Gassnola. An electrathon vehicle is a lightweight, three or four wheeled automobile built to run on battery packs. The winners of the race are the drivers who are able to travel the farthest distance given a fixed amount of battery power. Students utilize skills including research, design, mechanics and engineering in preparation for the electrathon race. Electrathon is a great way for students to learn about the potential of alternate energy sources.

The CCHS Color Guard has been doing very well this year, especially considering half of the Guard have never used a flag before! They practice once a week for an hour and a half and work on different routines using flags, rifles, and sabers. It's a dance group that not many people notice unless they're looking for it, but when they do it's a whole lot of fun! Freshmen Sean Linzi and Marissa Milton say that it has made their freshman year enjoyable. Senior Karagh Linzi says, "There's a lot of choreography and technique that you must know in order to do this kind of activity, but when you nail it, it's the biggest thrill of your life!"

CCHS BAND

This year, Mr. Raymond took over the band and has been doing a great job. Although the band is slightly smaller than last year, Mr. Raymond has made the best of it. They have been performing at football games since the beginning of school, and have also done many parades and concerts throughout the year including the Big E Parade in the fall. The band makes a great contribution to Chicopee Comprehensive as they bring their enjoyment of music into our lives!

Library Aides

What would we do without our library aides? The library aids help sign people in and out, check out books, and answer most questions. This gives the librarians more time to get their work done while the aides take care of students. This year, the library staff started a game called 'Guess the Library Aide'. Each library aide wore a name tag with a character from a book. Students guessed what book that character is from and the correct answers were put into a raffle for a prize. The first winner, Sean O'Neil, won a pineapple.

Chorus

The Comp Chorus has given our Colt singers a chance to shine as a whole as well as with solo acts throughout the year. With the new building, the singers have the benefit of a new soundproof room, allowing them the space to practice and learn new music. According to Ms. Borowiec, "To promote chorus it is important to develop the best performing group possible. Our chorus performs great shows throughout the year. I also try to capture students' attention with the music they already appreciate. At the beginning of the course we choose the songs that will appeal to young people who do not have much experience with choral literature. After they learn to manage their voices and feel more comfortable singing we try more challenging music. In addition, choral students receive music awards at the annual award assembly. The choral program is equal with athletics and other elective subjects."

As Schools Match Wits

Samantha Cookish, Krista Pickett, Matt Dobosz and Mike White battled against Sabi International High School, winning with a score of 125 to 110.

As Schools Match Wits, coached by Mr. Zdroykowski, is a Jeopardy-style competition that is aired on WGBY, Channel 57. Teams of four players and one alternate select from categories which require both academic as well as trivial knowledge. Local high schools meet head-to-head and the team with the most correct answers is declared the winner. After three consecutive wins, a school qualifies for the playoffs, which are usually held in late spring. Being a member of the As Schools Match Wits team requires a sharp mind and quick reflexes.

"I was surprised at what a great job our team did. It turned out to be a lot of fun."

National Honor Society

The National Honor Society is an invitation-based organization that honors students in grade 11 and 12 who have achieved high standards in terms of academics, leadership, character, and community service. Ms. Parzych had many great things to say about her students in NHS. She was happy that so many young and achieving students qualified for membership.

NEWSPAPER

Being a part of the Comp Chronicle is like being a part of the entire school, no matter what goes on. Sporting events, dances, anything that happens here, you can count on the Comp Chronicle to cover it. Every month a new issue comes out with new information that keeps teachers and students up to date with our school. Amazingly, the first semester's news was produced by only eight students. Regardless, this hardworking staff always managed to come out with a great read. The Comp Chronicle brings this school to life and makes you think twice before saying CCHS is boring. You don't need good English skills to be part of the newspaper. That's what the editors are there for! All you need is a good imagination and a taste for good news.

Being a newspaper editor is hard work. Accepting criticism wasn't an easy thing but it helped us work harder and make a better issue for the next month. All in all, it was a very fun and new experience.

"We have had an amusing time, there was a lot of work that we had to do since there was such a small class, but I think we did good."

-Emily Masse

Casey Libardi and Keyona Renaud were the photographers for the newspaper. They were always on a new story and they came out with several pages every issue.

"It was a blast. We got to know each other better, so in a way we made new friends in this class. Since it's so small nobody got ignored. I liked this class."

YEARBOOK

Freisberg, Freisberg! That was all Ms. Freisberg, the yearbook advisor, heard throughout the making of this year's yearbook. In order for Memini to come together we needed dedication, imagination, and teamwork. This class had all this and more. With the editors, Erika Laughlin and Karagh Linzi, staying after school to try to get ahead on the yearbook between the students getting creative on their pages and making them look the best they can. "It has been a very educational experience for all of us," says Ms. Freisberg. We were a very hardworking class; I'm sure you've seen us wandering the hallways "looking busy" taking pictures and "interviewing" people in the halls. In the end, however, it all came together. We hope you have enjoyed it.

Karagh and Erika went through an experience that they won't forget. Despite the drama and arguments, we finished the book and even managed to get along in the end!

Liticia Avery and Corey Cram were the photo editors. Cropping pictures and making them look their best was a task that they both accomplished.

"It was a lot of work that had to be done. It kept me occupied though, and I had a good time doing it."

-Liticia Avery

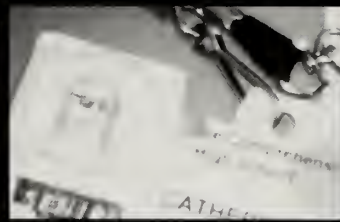

"I liked having this job; it made me feel important",

-Corey Cram

ID's and Hall Passes have become an issue at the new Comp, and not by just the fact nobody likes to wear them. You need a color coated hall pass in order to go to the bathroom, and you need your ID to get into the cafeteria and to buy lunch. In the old building, the main problem was "Do I have my lunch money in my pocket?"

Right: BUSTED! Don't go into the cafeteria without an ID or a lunch sticker because you won't get through the door.

Some students keep their IDs in pristine condition (left), and others get hungry in the long hours before lunch (above). Look, Nicole made Kansas!

Does anybody else miss the old building sometimes? Remember the old murals that would cover the walls and sometimes brighten your day? Giant cracks in the walls, ceiling tiles falling on you during gym class, the tarp outside to keep the bricks from landing on your head? We all thought that once we got to the new building it would be a lot better, but what we walked into was confusion. Color coated hall passes, colored lunch stickers, up and down stairwells, in and out doors-- it's a lot to take in all at once. Fortunately, though, we've made the best of it all.

OLD CCHS

NEW CCHS

Left: Lockers are big enough students can fit in without getting a hanger in the back!

Left: One thing Mr. Kozikowski is very happy about is the new pool. For years, Comp was on the verge of losing a meet just because they didn't have a diving team... now look at them!

Transitioning to a new building has been exciting in some ways, and a little sad in others. Everything in the present school is so clean and sparkling, yet it seems to lack in the personality department. The Class of 2008 will not have much of an opportunity to contribute to the new building's character, so we must pass the torch on to our underclassmen and hope for the best.

AS WE GO ON...

In 1961, Chicopee was divided in half and a rivalry was built. A new high school called Chicopee Comprehensive came into place and has since seen the faces of over 15,000 graduating students. The colors blue and gold brought on a whole new meaning to Chicopee; they signified Colt spirit. From the grand opening in September of 1962 to the final day of classes on December 28, 2007, this building was like home to the many students and staff members who entered its doors. Staff member and CCHS alumni Patricia Coleman recalls, "School spirit was really big in the 70s. Every Friday was color day. There were dances every other Friday night with bands, and you couldn't even get a seat at a football game unless you got there early enough." Everyone has their own memories of what is now called the "old building," but one common theme is how all of the murals on the walls, painted by students over the years, gave the school a welcoming feeling. "I liked being able to walk through the halls and see the names of students who graduated in the past on the walls, along with the pictures that were painted," says Danielle Drouillard, '09. Sadly, after many years of use, it was time to construct a new building for the students of Chicopee Comp. Construction began in the spring of 2005, and by January of 2008 the new CCHS was ready to be occupied. With much reluctance, everyone said their final goodbyes to the building they knew and loved with its narrow hallways; broken desks, water fountains, and window shades; its chalkboards, portable TVs, out of date VCRs, old computers and ceilings with tiles missing all over; and returned on January 2nd to a new school with wider hallways, dry erase boards, flat screen TVs, new computers everywhere, and something called SmartBoards. Even with all of the technology and new equipment, one can't help but hear both students and teachers talk about how much the old building is missed, and it always will be. After all, there's no place like home.
